

HOK VANG

Here is a small thing I used on farms, if I worked or operated over a year on a farm I made myself a map, and marked off all the spots that I caught predators, here is an example of an old map system I used, this was in 1998, before I had GPS.

AS THIS illustrates, the cats all are caught near crossroads and mostly near cover, this was a year in these two camps, by keeping a map like this will tell you all you need to know, just add in the dates of every catch you do. Complete the year and look over the records, it will tell you a story, BUT this is only as good as the trapper! As jy weet hoe om n kat te vang sal jy! Also you need to set cages everyday of the year. At least 7-10 cages on a piece of ground 800m square. Also mention what bait was used at each catch site. www.africanpredator.com
