

“TOYOTA HILUX REFLECTIONS”

I have had many bakkies during my years out in the bush, Karoo and the flat lands of the Free State, I have had them all, Isuzu 250D's then Nissan to Toyota SFA solid axels to IFS models etc, and I will say this....

If you want to get a really neat truck, one that is not hard like an old SFA Hilux (model up to 1998) and you want something stronger than an Isuzu and not only for comfort but for raw power, grab one of these, the facelift from the 2000 models, I have this – a 2004 model Hilux 2,7i (the best petrol engine Toyota has made) and the IFS model is all I need, very comfortable to drive and travel in and very powerful. This article doesn't include Cruisers, this is about the Hilux in general, for the jackal hunter grab one of these Hilux models, you wont be sorry. I love this bakkie, I have had years driving pleasure from it, it has given me not a second problems and it sleeps on a carpet in the garage every night! I look after my valuables.

For the family man, who wants to go out on the farm, do some hunting and then on weekends do some camping etc this is the truck, a really awesome bakkie! Grab one!
